

Yamaha Music School at Fairfield Halls

How We Work

The Fairfield Halls is a Community Interest Company (CIC) operated by BH Live

- Once you book into a class, your place is automatically reserved in the same class time for the following term. It is recommended to stay at the same class time, but please do enquire if you need a change of time for the following term
- Ideally, lessons stay at the same time and with the same teacher for the duration of each part of the course. However, this may change for follow-on courses or if classes become too small
- We invoice in six blocks per year: each term is usually 5 - 6 weeks long
- Invoices are emailed ahead of each new term with a link for online payment to BH Live
- If payment is not received by the deadline, your place will not be reserved for the following term
- Refunds for missed lessons are not given. If for any reason the lesson cannot take place, the next term's invoice will reflect this. We regret we cannot refund lessons cancelled for extreme weather conditions
- Alternative teachers may cover lessons in case of teacher absence
- Ideally, the adult that accompanies JMC children should be the one that helps with practice
- No younger siblings should be present in lessons
- Lesson prices and term dates can be found on the Fairfield Halls website:
<https://www.fairfield.co.uk/education/yamaha-music-school/>
- No food or drink in classrooms
- We may film lessons for training purposes - please let us know if this is a problem
- We may ask to photograph or film lessons for publicity purposes - we would always ask permission first, but it would be helpful to know if you have any concerns about this

Please communicate any worries to your teacher and/or to Antonia King, however small. Music education is a very special area and can also be very fragile, so we want to do our best to support your family.

Enjoy the course!
